

COLLINGWOOD YARDS

News:

Space available on the Ground Floor of our Johnston Street building

We're currently seeking Expressions of Interest in an expansive public-facing tenancy. Located on the Ground Floor Level of our Johnston Street Building, this generous space is close by key public entrances and our large green courtyard.

The light-filled space is 89.6m² and suited to multiple uses including hospitality, galleries, showrooms, studios and established independent retail.

Find further details on our website via the link below.

Tenant profile:

In conversation with Torika Bolatagici

Torika Bolatagici is an artist, writer and educator working across a range of media including photography, video, projection, publication, installation and curation. Her work shifts between the languages of documentary, archival recovery, re-enactment and abstraction to explore the tensions and intersections between race, gender, power, commodification and visual culture.

We asked Torika a few questions about her practice, what's ahead for 2023 and how she spends her days at Collingwood Yards.

Photo by Zan Wimberley

Read our conversation with Torika

Explore:

Listen to: MTALKS FOSTERING CONNECTION AND COLLABORATION THROUGH ARCHITECTURE

Listen to the panel discussion from an MTALK hosted at MPavilion by the architects of Collingwood Yards, Fieldwork. Featuring architect Quino Holland of Fieldwork alongside Collingwood Yards tenants Angela Flynn of ILBIJERRI Theatre Company, artist Eugenia Lim, Collingwood Yards CEO Sophie Travers and moderator Leigh Abernethy of Left Bank Co.

Using Collingwood Yards as their case study, the discussion explores how physical space, materials and design can foster communication and collaboration. From community consultations to approaches that focus on minimal intervention and mixed use, there are many ways architecture can play a role in creating and facilitating a community.

"Our open courtyard, sheltered shared spaces and multiple gathering places are allowing all manner of unexpected creative encounters, and for that we are forever grateful." Sophie Travers, CEO Collingwood Yards.

Listen now

What's On:

Events to start the new year at Collingwood Yards

- Music in Exile fundraiser, 29 Jan
Annual Summer Fundraiser with live music, great food & cold drinks to support Music in Exile. Tickets essential.
- Still Life, 2 February — 18 March
Still Life brings together a collection of paintings, drawings and prints from Arts Project Australia artists working from observation.
- The Six Pillars, 18 January — 18 February
A new exhibition by artist, Tommaso Nervegna-Reed at Composite.
- POWA WAVE, 14 January — 26 February
POWA WAVE by Hannah Brontë frames the experiences of Queer women in Australia's surfing culture. On now at West Space.
- Spontaneous Plants Dérive — 19 February
The Spontaneous Plant Dérive by artist collective Studio 15, (Adele Daniele, Sarah Lynch, Daniella Ruffino) will take participants on a dérive of spontaneous plants in the surrounding areas of Collingwood Yards.
- Drive Live, PBS 106.7FM, 20–24 February
Five evenings of live music happening at Music Market, free event, RSVP essential.

Collingwood Yards, where creativity and community meet.
Support and donate here.

Collingwood Yards acknowledges the traditional owners and sovereign custodians of the land on which Collingwood Yards is situated, the Wurundjeri people of the Woivurrung language group. We extend our respects to their Ancestors and all First Peoples and Elders past, present, and future.

We celebrate that Collingwood has always been a place of great cultural significance to First Peoples, particularly artists and musicians, and acknowledge the vital role that these communities continue to play in the cultural life of Collingwood.

35 Johnston Street,
Collingwood Australia

You're receiving this email because you signed up for updates and announcements from Collingwood Yards.

Unsubscribe

